VANDALS STRUCK AT THE Sir George Simpson School early Saturday morning causing an estimated $2,000 worth of damage. They ransacked several classrooms and offices in the school and RCMP are still looking for the culprits. They are asking the public to inform them if they have seen anyone recently with cuts. A large amount of small change (pennies) is also reported missing from the premises and this could give the RCMP a clue in tracking down the culprits. RCMP say that it will take janitors and staff at the school some time to get things back in order in time for school next week.

Vandals hit Simpson school

Bewildered trustees of the St. Albert Protestant Separate School District No. 6 surveyed the damage caused by vandals at Sir George Simpson School on Saturday, August 23.

Shattered windows and broken glass, paper and books strewn across the floor, broken tape recorders and an adding machine, were all part of the debris spread out before them. The wall clock had been damaged and the speaker from the P.A. system had been ripped off the wall. Most of the vandalism had taken place in the library and the administrative area although there was some minor damage in the science room. Two musical instruments with a combined value of $575, a bass clarinet and a trumpet, were stolen but they were subsequently recovered from the shrubbery surrounding the Grandin swimming pool.

Overall cost of the damage has not yet been estimated.

Entry had been forced into the school through the library windows. A long threaded iron bar had been used to gain access. Bloodstains on the library bookshelf and on the lightswitch indicate that one of the vandals may have injured himself during the process. The wall clock had been broken and stopped working at 2:20 a.m. on Saturday morning.

RCMP from the local detachment and from Edmonton were on the scene scanning the wreckage for clues and fingerprints at 6 a.m. The local detachment had received information from an anonymous source that the vandalism had taken place. The motivation behind the attack on the school is not yet known.

As well as being at a loss to understand why this had happened, the trustees showed anger and disgust at what they saw before them. Trustee Dr. W. Cuts made no attempt to disguise his attitude toward people who commit crimes of this nature and he felt strongly that a hard line should be taken toward the perpetrators should they be apprehended.

Trustee Shirley McCaffery wondered whether the district should initiate a reward for information leading to the apprehension of the vandals.

Trustee Don Munro felt that several areas could be explored in combating vandalism including a reward system. The other ideas he mentioned were 24 hour security guards, or an alarm system wired to RCMP offices or the principal's home. He said that the RCMP have been very successful in apprehending offenders in cases of major break-ins. Mr. Munro added that the district had always followed a policy of charging offenders when caught in the past. He saw no reason to

St. Albert's race against time on $4.5 million rec. complex

The Town of St. Albert has been strongly urged to take a construction management route against lump sum tendering for its proposed $4.5 million recreation complex.

By taking this route St. Albert would avoid having to go to tender in the spring when it would face competition from many other contractors trying to take advantage of the spring break-up.

Architect for the proposed multi-million dollar complex L. Osipov told council at its regular meeting August 25 that it would avoid sharper prices when bidding for tenders was more active and it might also see at least the shell of the building up by Christmas.

If the construction management route is taken there is also the possibility that contractors would be able to put in simple spread footings at the site. This would save $300,000 on the total cost and eliminate driving in 50 foot piles.

The saving of even the smallest amount on the project which has already been delayed because of the lateness of the grant processing by the provincial government is significant. All are aware of the tremendous cost which the facility represents. That cost does not take into account unforeseen inflationary trends in the future.

Mayor Dick Plain expressed it this way. He told council that they were looking at an inflationary factor of one and a half per cent per month "staring them in the eye" and added that "if we fumble anymore we may have to look at cutting the original design."

THIS CALGARY POWER lamp standard took a turn for the worst August 25 after a northbound truck gave it a sideswipe. The driver was on the St. Albert Trail and just as he got to the lights at the Hebert Road and Trail intersection - they changed. The truck skidded sideways into the post. Minor damage was sustained by the truck and no one was reported hurt in the incident.

Regional sewer system could work out well

A regional sewage study by Stanley and Associates (Engineers) convinced St. Albert council Monday night to offer its present sewage facilities to "outsiders" on a utility basis and also to change its current sewage bylaw.

After long discussion and thrashing out a complex series of motions council finally agreed to consider the facilities on a utility basis for outside users, with the proviso that a construction agreement be negotiated with Morinville so that that town could tie in with the St. Albert sewer line.

The current St. Albert sewer bylaw will be changed to expedite the tie in with Morinville to the north.

The main advantage to St. Albert if it operates the sewer system as a utility will be others can accept the town owns the system and there will be little or no danger that someone else will try to run it.

St. Albert could recover the capital cost of the investment in 25 years and Stanley and Associates have recommended that the town charge a rate of $1.45 per 1000 gallons of waste to get the ball rolling.

Morinville could expect to kick in $1.26 million to help St. Albert with the first stage of the regional sewer system's development.

Morinville's contribution over five stages of devel-

Boy hit by car

A seven year old boy was hit by a car while riding his bicycle near house number 80 on Grandin Road, August 23rd.

Time of the accident was about 6:35 p.m. RCMP are not releasing the name of the boy or the driver of the car. The boy was taken to the Sturgeon General Hospital for treatment to a fractured leg.

RCMP said it seemed that the boy had crossed in front of the southbound vehicle from behind a parked car. No charges have been laid following the incident.

CHARGED WITH THEFT

Three persons have been charged with theft by St. Albert RCMP over the weekend for stealing from houses which are under construction in the town. RCMP caught those three charged "in the act" at two different locations. RCMP did not give the specific locations where the crimes occurred.

RADAR IN SCHOOL ZONES

St. Albert RCMP are in the process of setting up radar in school zones throughout St. Albert in readiness for the start of schools next Tuesday. RCMP are preparing for any speedsters in these school zones which will be in effect September 2.

Mr. Osipov said that he was fearful of council taking the lump sum route and that if St. Albert put out bids in the late spring of next year the cost would be higher than it had to be.

"There isn't a contractor capable of starting in May and getting up the shell for the inside work of the winter of 76-77," he added.

On a forboding note, Mr. Osipov told Councillor Myrna Fyfe that as far as industrial troubles and setbacks went, "we have not been able to guess what will happen in 1976." He was commenting on the current round of labour unrest in northern Alberta which has taken the advantages out of the good summer construction season.

So it looks as if the cost factor will be reduced by advancing the timing of choosing construction management. Council were a little "broody" on this item thought the architect and he told them that it was time for aggressive choices.

Mr. Osipov said that a first priority could be shown to users of the complex e.g. swimmers, when the first phase of the development came into active use.

He also advised council that if they went the construction management route they would be wise to choose a man who could "get into" the project and not remain a neutral bystander.

He said that if council went the lump sum tendering route they would find that it would be impossible to see the facility ready by late '76 and it would take until mid-March to finalize the details of awarding a contract in early May. By choosing construction management the town would be able to call for tenders on the bulk of the materials needed for this coming winter.

Already there have been a number of developments on the recreation complex since the spring; borings have been drilled and a foundation report has been completed. It has been found that the site is a good one for this part of the world and is already pre-consolidated.

Council promised that haste would be made on the decision of the route to take and the architect will intensify discussion with user groups as deadlines draw near for the facility's construction.

alter this policy in the present situation.

Acts of vandalism have been sustained by both school districts and other property owners within the town during the last year.

The young people who committed these crimes have added to the tax burden of the community at large and this includes hitting the pockets of their own parents. They have perhaps deprived a younger relative of some aspect which might add to the quality of his life, and they have caused disappointment, even grief, to those who take pride in the community and its achievements. And they have demonstrated most convincingly that the good life we enjoy in St. Albert can easily be penetrated by these moments of ugliness.

Community expresses interest in senior's housing

Mayor Dick Plain told the Gazette yesterday that there appear to be a number of organizations interested in seniors housing. One of the churches in town has expressed interest. Lion's Club President Tom Flynn said his group would have a meeting and would say where they stood by next council meeting. The mayor expects to hear from other groups soon.

He said that council was interested in receiving notification of interest or willingness to sponsor such a project. However, he added that the local government could do it themselves.

The mayor said he hoped to get approval of funding from the provincial government and preliminary preparations completed by early 1976, so construction might begin in the spring.

opment would not go much over the initial expense according to the engineer's study.

Morinville would also be expected to help out the maintenance and operational costs of the regional sewer system, the study points out, although the rate of inflation could make a difference here.

When one council member expressed a doubt that St. Albert would be able to recover the true costs of the project a spokesman for the engineer emphasized that the town would always have the advantage in providing the service to Morinville for a charge.

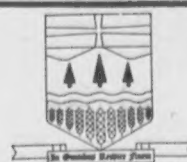

Mayor Dick Plain had only one reservation. The principle of the project was one thing; the feasibility another. He added that council would have to give a report of the costs and alternatives to Morinville and then enter a construction agreement.

A policy will also have to be set out on strip development along the tie-in route.

A copy of the engineer's report has already gone out to the MD of Sturgeon and Morinville. The report was financed 75 per cent by the provincial government.

With outside tie-ins on to the St. Albert sewer system, a two mill drop could be effected in St. Albert's mill rate, the study points out.

St. Albert Air Cadets named Top Squadron in Alberta

533 wins Drill Team competition also

533 (St. Albert) Air Cadet Squadron has been awarded the distinction of being "Top Squadron" in Alberta for 1975.

With this award 533 have completed a double rarely achieved by individual squadrons for in May 533 also won the Provincial Senior Precision Drill Team competition.

With over 40 Air Cadet squadrons active in Alberta the competition for these two major awards is very aggressive and the high standards that the St. Albert Squadron has maintained especially during the last three years can be measured by the results. In 1973 they were also "Top Squadron" and runner-up in drill while in 1974 they were runner-up to the "Top Squadron and placed third in drill.

The assessment of each unit is conducted by senior officers of the Canadian Forces in May each year when each squadron receives its annual inspection.

After the military courtesies have been extended to the visiting Reviewing Officer by both squadron officers and cadets the whole squadron is inspected and the great importance of this annual event is evident with the care and attention each cadet has devoted to his appearance and the manner in which they conduct themselves on parade.

Following the inspection the parade is turned over to the Cadet Parade Commander and the cadets themselves conduct the rest of the program during which they conduct a march past in front of the reviewing officer and then provide demonstrations by the squadron band, and precision drill team.

During the annual inspection squadron trophies are awarded to cadets for their proficiency in the many squadron activities.

To assess these activities and the results each squadron has achieved the reviewing officer inspects the administration, training and supply sections in Squadron Headquarters and reviews the administrative operations and training programs with squadron officers and instructors.

TRAINING PROGRAM IMPORTANT

The most important function in the operation of a squadron is the training program to encourage participation by cadets for the administrative operations and associated activities are controlled by the number of cadets who participate.

533's training program is already directed by Lt. Floyd Maybee who during the past five years has provided excellent leadership in developing, and in co-operation with outstanding volunteer instructors, presenting a wide range of air oriented and personal development activities.

These activities include flying subjects such as theory of flight, instruments, navigation and meteorology; communications, photography, first aid, band, rifle range, aero engines, airframes, public relations, defensive driving, leadership administration, drill, karate and sports.

Each year scholarships are available in which cadets attended flying schools to obtain their private pilot wings for powered aircraft and gliding. Cadets can also participate in scholarships for overseas exchange visits, senior leaders, technical training, athletic leadership and survival courses.

To become eligible to attend a scholarship program each cadet must be reviewed by a squadron selection board from which successful cadets attend a provincial selection board where they compete with other Alberta squadrons for assignment to the various scholarship programs.

In addition to the scholarships, cadets have the opportunity to attend two and four week summer camps usually held at Penfold or Camp Wright for band, bush survival and junior NCO training.

A PARTNERSHIP MOVEMENT

The Air Cadet movement is a partnership between the Federal Government and a volunteer civilian organization known as the Air Cadet League of Canada to provide an aviation oriented youth development week, while run on military lines, provides citizenship and leadership training to help young boys and girls to become responsible and competent Canadian citizens.

The contribution made by the Government of Canada is that the Canadian Armed Forces will provide squadron officers and equipment to operate and administer this program and the use of military bases for various summer camps and other training programs.

The Alberta Provincial Air Cadet League on behalf of the Air Cadet League of Canada is responsible for raising the financial support necessary to operate the scholarship courses, camps and other provincial activities. In addition they have the responsibility to ensure that each squadron has a local sponsoring body to provide and control the financial aspects of each local squadron operation.

LIONS CLUB GIVES FINE SUPPORT

In St. Albert 533 Squadron is extremely fortunate to have the excellent sponsorship which has been provided by the St. Albert (Supper) Lions Club over the past 20 years. The Lions, through their sponsoring committee, are very active members of the cadet operation and not only provide outstanding support and guidance but they also become involved as course instructors, organize local transportation, provide band instruments and assist in finding people interested in providing practical assistance to the Air Cadet Movement.

The outstanding co-operation these Lions provide to squadron officers has long been a major factor in the continued high squadron performance which has resulted in St. Albert being recognized, over these past 20 years, as one of the best Air Cadet Squadrons in Alberta.

To be eligible to join Air Cadets a girl or boy must be 13 years of age by December 31, 1975 and may stay with the squadron until they reach their 19th birthday.

There are no enrollment fees as the uniforms and other equipment are supplied by the squadron. However to ensure that each cadet has the physical capacity to participate in the various activities and also to meet the insurance requirements each new member is required to be medically examined by their family doctor. The doctor's fee which normally costs approximately $5 is the responsibility of the parent.

While the cadets are not subject to normal, regular CAF discipline they will be expected to conform to standards of dress which includes an acceptable hairstyle plus accepting the normal squadron officer, NCO, cadet code of ethics.

LIMITED ENROLLMENT

Due to the size of the facilities at squadron headquarters total enrollment is limited to approximately 100 so that overcrowding does not detract from the efficient operation of the training program.

Those young people still wishing to join the organization after the enrollment limit is reached will have their names put on a waiting list and will be contacted in order of application as vacancies occur.

Each type of youth organization has its individual policies and rules, especially cadets as the one thing it is not is a babysitting organization. Should it be apparent that any cadet, after counselling to determine his attitude for his apparent lack of interest, does not fit into this type of organization his parents will be contacted and the problem discussed. However if no satisfactory solution can be attained we will reluctantly request that he leave the squadron so that his position can be filled by the next applicant on the waiting list. Fortunately we have found this to be an extremely rare occurrence but we must face the fact that individual organizations do not suit all individuals.

NEW PROGRAM BEGINS

533 Squadron will commence their 75/76 program on Thursday, September 4 at their headquarters in the Community Hall on Perron Street. These parades which are compulsory are held every Thursday evening from 6:45 p.m. to approximately 9:30 p.m.

Other optional activities take place on Sundays at the Community Hall and in the Sir George Simpson School gym on Monday evenings.

Any parent of a prospective cadet may obtain additional information by contacting Capt. Armstrong at the squadron by phoning 459-7277 or by visiting the squadron offices between 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. on a Thursday evening.

Public meeting aires pros & cons of industrial park

"We can't afford to turn it down."

That was the comment of one St. Albert resident at a public meeting August 20 in the Club Mocombo on St. Albert's proposed east industrial park.

The park is only at the outline planning stage at the moment and it will probably be another five years before the town sees any of the tax benefits that the development might bring.

About 75 people attended the meeting to give their input to the town of St. Albert, represented by Mayor Dick Plain and town planner Wayne Gordon.

A resident pointed out that the mill rate in St. Albert has gone up by leaps and bounds recently, 39.2 in 1974 and this year $2.69. At this rate of increase he would not be able to stay in the town and did not see how residents could turn it down.

There was a lot of negative comment at the meeting considering that it was clearly pointed the park was only for light industrial use and there was also the possibility of its joint development by the MD of Sturgeon.

The MD has had its eyes on the 685 acres of the park for some time but Mayor Dick Plain pointed out that the "town is only clear on 165 acres," and would only develop another 175 acres after that.

Some residents were worried that there would not be enough buffering against increased noise levels, they expressed concern over heavier traffic along Hebert Road which is actually only designated for employee access and trucks or heavier vehicles could have temporary access along 142nd Street. Mayor Dick Plain explained that in the normal course, decibel levels along Hebert would rise anyway and the road had been designed for widening to four lanes highway at the outset.

But the main point to emerge was that if St. Albert is to survive as a self-sufficient unit it must be able to look after itself.

From the floor came the opinion that "the town which looks after itself has less chance of being swallowed up," though no one was advocating the amount of development which was the case at Fort Saskatchewan.

Mayor Dick Plain emphasized that he was committed to preserving the quality of residential life in St. Albert, one of the main attractions the town offered. The town had a strong identity but he wanted the park to give it some economic relief.

Of St. Albert's existing total assessment only 0.61 can be traced to industrial development and the industrial park would change all this.

The park would bring as much assessment as was claimed saying that $2 million was a high figure. According to his calculations $600,000 was a more realistic figure. Mayor Plain begged to differ with this viewpoint and referred the resident to a report in the town's public library which gave the run down on all the figures.

One reason for the site of the proposed east industrial park which is set back from Hebert Road in a large triangular split by NAR trackage partly in a restricted development area, is that the "ring road gave it a good configuration."

One resident thought that before any further work was done on the park council should wait until the provincial government had seen to the finalization of the ring-road and the northwest freeway thus taking the pressure off other trunk roads in the town of St. Albert.

There was one rather hot incident in the middle of the meeting when a resident noticed that the meeting was not being taped and that note-taking seemed sketchy. What was the point of having public input if half of it was being lost was the question. There were complaints that the town of St. Albert had been failing in its responsibility to the public to get all the input recorded in similar meetings over the past few months.

Mayor Plain defended the town's position saying that it had been agreed that only the highlights of the meeting were necessary and he agreed with another point expressed by one resident that tapes inhibited many individuals from getting up and making a presentation.

To others who expressed a certain amount of surprise to the proposed development he said that the zone had been earmarked for light industrial since 1961.

Another point raised during the meeting was that Edmonton was opposed to the development of 142nd and 149th Streets, both of which are vital for access to the industrial park. A spokesman for Epec Consulting Western who have been employed to prepare the outline plan commented "They don't have too much choice."

One of the main benefits to the town of St. Albert if the park ever saw the light of day would be its provision of more job opportunities to local residents and there was also talk of a rapid transit system to the site.

Mr. K. Foster of L. G. Grimble Associates who are studying the internal and external transportation alignments of the park was also at the meeting. He felt that much of the traffic which the park might generate would be south and east orientated not north and ultimately a by-pass would alleviate this north-south traffic flow problem.

The meeting commenced at 8 p.m. and finished at about 11 p.m.

to the Editor

Reporter's "Wrath?"

Mayor Plain, council members, and my neighbours on Belmont Drive please accept my apology. After reading the report of the public hearing held August 18, in the Gazette, I feel I may be partly responsible for the Wrath of this reporter.

I inadvertently tried to borrow his copy of the meeting agenda and obviously must have upset him resulting in the school-boy level of reporting done in the August 20th Gazette. Councillor Breadner was terribly misquoted with "this cuts no ice with me" being completely out of context. The residents of Belmont Drive were ridiculed for "blocking progress" when all we intended was to protect our homes and neighbourhood.

This reporter seems to not realize his living comes from those who buy this paper. I support accurate unbiased reporting but question amateur attempts such as we witnessed in this instance.

A more accurate account can be realized by attending a council meeting or even watching Channel 11 Tuesdays at 6:30 p.m.

Gary W. Hill,
Braeside.

Reporter Jim McIntyre feels the story "St. Albert residents win council sympathy against march of progress" in the August 20th edition was fair and unbiased.

Insinuations that the reporter was venting his wrath because an attempt had been made to pick up his agenda "cut no ice."

In the story Councillor

Breadner did not make a bald statement "this cuts no ice with me." He was referring to multiple as opposed to single family residential zoning ("multiple use cuts no ice with me at all."). The story also makes it clear that the residents of Belmont Drive were trying to protect their neighbourhood and does not ridicule them for that.

"Terrible." "A disgrace." These are words some of the businessmen on Riel Drive used to describe their roads. Mr. Lawrence Martel of St. Albert Cabs said that although the town owed the road about a month ago, it is still in poor condition. Mr. Martel, who feels that the road should be paved, added that he parks his cars on the lot overnight and often finds that he has to wash them again next morning.

Fred Bendle, who will soon be opening a plate glass and mirror business on Riel Drive, said his trucks would have to travel about 10 miles an hour over the rough surface. He would like to see the road graded and tarred.

Mr. Frank Scott of Scott Rentals said he would like to apologize to all his customers for the condition of the road. "People have to wash their car after driving here," he said.

He would like to see the mayor tell the businessmen how soon the road will be improved. Mr. Scott sees the condition of the road as a detriment to his business.

Mr. Winters of Dato Construction Ltd., would like to see the road paved. "There is heavy traffic on the road," he said, "and it should be paved so the road can be better maintained."

George Weller of Weller Electric said the road could be looked after better than it is, even if it was just graded.

Wayne Law of B & L Plumbing, Heating and Parts Department wants the road paved. He wants the ditches improved too. He sees the ditches as a "mosquito haven."

Roger Lemieux of LBH Home Improvements Centres Ltd., said, "I feel that there's enough light industry on Riel Drive, property tax wise, to have the town approach us, especially now the new maintenance building for the town is built." (St. Albert public works yard is located on Riel Drive).

Mr. Lemieux said that he doesn't mind paying extra taxes for paving. He felt that customer's vehicles were getting wrecked on it. He added that the roads have been looked after a lot better since the maintenance department of the town has moved in.

Mr. Lemieux would also like to see flashing lights installed at the corner of Winston Churchill Boulevard and Riel Drive to prevent accidents.

Donald LaCroix of Pro-Western Plastics agreed that the intersection was a very dangerous one. He said that one had to go uphill across a railroad track and then encounter a blind spot to the right when turning onto Churchill.

Mr. LaCroix would like to see the roadway paved. He felt that if the town had any plans for the area as a light industrial zone, proper access should be provided.

He also felt that another exit should be provided if the town doesn't want industrial traffic on Churchill and Grandin Road.

He would also like to see the area properly ditched for drainage. According to Mr. LaCroix the water in the area was just not getting away.

Wayne Lissack of Westcon said that when the road was dry, it was dusty and rough and when it was wet, it was muddy. He felt that the area was enough business on the road to justify a good quality paving job for the heavy traffic using it.

Jeff Rohmkopf of St. Albert Auto Haus said the road should be paved. He felt that the town should pay the most because they used the road the most.

Al Sabourin of Sabourin Welding Ltd., said the road could be paved, but that he really couldn't complain too much. He added that he would like to see better drainage in the back of his property.

Tony Schiavon of Forest Lawn and Mark and Connie Schiavon of Lacombe Park left a while ago for their parents home in Italy, to assist in preparations for the 50th wedding anniversary of the elderly Schiavons. Tony's wife Betty left on Monday and her mother, Mrs. Avery, and sister Margaret of Darlington, England will also be in Trarville for the happy celebration on August 30. The St. Albert people will be spending several weeks in Italy.

Visitors to the home of Helen and Peter Todd of Fernmont Street are Peter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Todd from Ryhope, Sunderland. Mrs. Todd Sr. has visited Canada before but it is the first time for Mr. Todd. Both visitors have enjoyed being busy about the home and garden and were impressed during a visit to the Rockies and the Okanagan Valley. They were also favourably impressed with St. Albert and surrounding area.

Town favours integrated bus system

The Town of St. Albert has come out in favour of an integrated bus system between itself and the two town school boards.

Council came to the decision at its regular meeting Monday night after discussing the proposal for the integrated system using town and school buses with St. Albert resident John Bakker.

However council added the proviso that there must be a financial and technical breakdown of an integrated busing system before any further considerations.

Mayor Dick Plain thought the idea was a good one and said that if council were in favour of it then they could sit down with the school boards and get the costs from them by January.

Representatives of the town school boards at the meeting said they were interested in looking at the proposal and would negotiate the contract with the town at reasonable rates. The boards felt that there would be definite economies made if the system were integrated.

Under an integrated system Mr. Bakker thought that there would be an improvement in the St. Albert Transit System as a whole though the standard of comfort might decrease. But this would be offset by an increase in the bus schedules.

If more buses were required at peak hours they could be hired from the Edmonton Transit System hinted Mr. Bakker.

Mr. Bakker also agreed that St. Albert would be as well off if it owned six to eight buses and subcontracted the rest. Buses could be serviced at local garages and they could act as feeders within the town's present system.

As far as the manning of the buses under an integrated system - that could be part or full time - Mayor Dick Plain thought that clearer delineation was needed on this point.

The point of Mr. Bakker's presentation was that by using school buses on a staggered system the town would not have to put itself into the red by purchasing more transit buses. Ten are already needed to service St. Albert to the City of Edmonton.

Building permits total 1.1 million

The building inspector's report for July shows 35 permits issued for the construction of single family dwellings, 34 garage permits, 17 improvement permits and two permits for the construction of pools. Total value of the permits came to almost 1.1 million dollars.

The monthly report from town hall for July also shows the fire department receiving nine calls from St. Albert. The MD of Sturgeon did not even place one call and to date this year they have only phoned nine times.

Police were called to 31 accidents. They laid 61 traffic act charges, but no parking violation charges were laid. There were three charges laid under the Narcotic Control Act and 15 under the Liquor Control Act. There were two cases of willful damage, four of breaking and entering, five of theft, three of theft of motor vehicles, seven of impaired driving and one person was injured.

The animal control department issued 71 licenses and took in $540. Three cats and 10 dogs were picked up. Five animals were returned to their owners and five were destroyed. The department travelled a total of 674 miles. A total of $430 in June and $213 in July was paid out to people on social assistance by the Social Services Department. Twelve families and single adults lacked the required one year residence in the town to make them eligible for financial assistance through the department. The department moved from the fire hall to the civic centre last month.

The social services department has also found that there are about 97 mentally handicapped or physically disabled people in St. Albert. They have planned follow-up action to survey these people's needs and their situation in more detail.

Bourgeois and Reinbold exchange vows

On the sunny afternoon of Friday, August 1, 1975, the St. Albert Roman Catholic Church was the scene of a very colourful and lovely RCMP wedding ceremony. Marguerite Bourgeois, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joffre Bourgeois of St. Albert, became the bride of Constable Douglas Reinbold, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Reinbold also of St. Albert.

The bride was radiant in an empire style gown of knit jersey, which had a full A-line skirt and a separate train. The bodice, collar and cuffs were beaded with pearls. Her shoulder length veil was held in place with a matching cap of beaded pearls. She carried a bouquet of red roses with sprays of sweetheart roses.

Attending the bride were Colette Bourgeois, cousin of the bride, Debbie and Cindy Reinbold, sisters of the groom and Laurette Bourgeois, sister of the bride. Flowergirl was Heather Rube cousin of the groom.

The groom was attended by Constables Ron Harper, Bud Bishop, Darrell Ball and Clark Tarr, who all trained with Doug in Regina. Ringbearer was Rene Bourgeois (Gogo) brother of the bride.

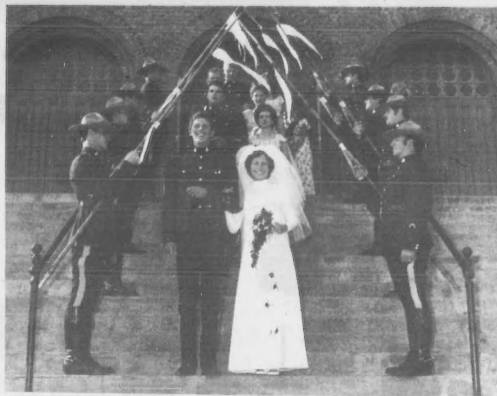

The honour guards were Constables Don MacMillan, Layton Warner, Paul Hurl, Jim Edwards, Wally Burne, Steve Stirling, Tom Frederick and Sandy Pettigrew. All the best men, honour guards and Doug were their red sergees. The honour guards formed an arch with lances as the wedding party walked in and out of church.

Ushers were Paul Bourgeois, brother of the bride, and Steve Hoffart, friend of the groom.

Soloists were Debbie Kremer and Duncan McGregor, accompanied by Gerald Bachand, Dennis Cournoyer, Danny Desfosses and also Duncan McGregor.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Father Joly assisted by Father Levaing.

Following the wedding ceremony, a reception was held at the St. Albert Community Hall. Master of ceremonies was Ronald Toast to the bride was proposed by Dennis Brodeur, uncle of the bride, also from Calgary.

Toast to the bridesmaids was given by Constable Ron Harper, from Oyen, Alberta.

Father of the groom, Wilfred Reinbold proposed a toast to the RCMP.

Supper was followed by a dance where a crowd of 350 had a lovely time until early morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Reinbold will be making their home in Kamloops, B.C., where Doug is currently stationed.

Father Albert Lacombe to be honoured

"The Man of Good Heart" will be honoured this month for his missionary work among the Cree Indians.

National Historic Parks and Sites, a branch of Parks Canada will unveil a plaque recognizing the national historic importance of Father Albert Lacombe who worked on the western prairies for 64 years. The ceremony will be held August 31 at Brossseau, Alberta, the site of Father Lacombe's mission St. Paul des Cris.

The mission was the first to convert the nomadic Cree. In the small agricultural community of St. Paul des Cris established in 1865, Father Lacombe converted the Indians to Christianity and served as doctor, interpreter, peace mediator and farming instructor. He also prepared the first Cree dictionary grammar, prayer book, hymn book and New Testament.

Speakers at the ceremony will include the Honorable Ralph Steinhauer, Lieutenant Governor of Alberta. The plaque will be unveiled by William C. Turnbull, director of Parks Canada western region, representing the minister of Indian Affairs and Northern Development.

Born in 1827 in St. Sulpice, Lower Canada, Father Lacombe arrived at Fort Edmonton in 1852 and four years later was admitted to the Congregation of the Oblates of Mary Immaculate. He founded the mission of St. Albert, a thriving Metis agricultural community where he built the first brick, flour mill, convent, hospital and school in the far west.

Caught several times, and wounded once in the Indian wars, he negotiated peace among the tribes.

After an absence of some years from the prairies, Father Lacombe returned to the prairie missions in 1882 to find white civilization pushing the Indians on to reserves and changing the prairies. He kept the peace whenever possible.

He advised the Indians to sign government treaties and pacifying them during the railway construction and the Riel rebellion.

Disturbed by the Canadian Government's ignorance of western problems, Father Lacombe travelled several times to Ottawa, Quebec and Europe seeking money and support for western Indians, Metis and Catholic settlers.

His last project was a home for the poor, aged and orphaned at Midnapore, Alberta. The Lacombe house was opened in 1910 and Father Lacombe died there in 1916 at the age of 89.

He was buried at the Oblate Mission in Edmonton but by his own request his heart remained in the home in Midnapore.

"MAN OF GOOD HEART" Father Albert Lacombe.

Takes top honors for her roses

A local woman, Mrs. Charlotte Shewchuk took first prize for growing the best rose in the Edmonton Horticultural show held at the Bonnie Doon Mall last Thursday and Friday.

She took second prize in the only other competition she entered. This was at Southgate during the second week in August where she was the reserve winner in the rose competition.

Her first prize flower type was hybrid Royal Highness. Her second prize flower was a hybrid Tropicana.

Mrs. Shewchuk was surprised she won last week's competition as she had only 20 bushes. Some people had 100 bushes. She has plans of getting 40 more bushes for next year.

Safety Council works on Block Parent plan

A meeting of the St. Albert Safety Council was held on Friday, August 22. As a number of members were still away on holiday, there was not a quorum and no motions could be adopted. However, there was general discussion on a number of subjects under review.

Much of the meeting was taken up by two subjects; the proposed First Aid Course and the Block Parent Program.

The First Aid Course will start in October and will be the Standard First Aid Course offered by the St. John's Ambulance. The course runs for eight evenings, each session lasting two and one half hours. An examination is taken at the conclusion of the course and a certificate awarded. Maximum number of students per course is 20 and the fee is $20. Workers covered by the Workmen's Compensation Board are paid for by the Board. Lecturers, materials etc. are provided by the St. John's Ambulance. Discussion on the Block Parent Program took up the major part of the evening. Much preparation has to go into this in order to assemble all the materials before the children return to school.

A public meeting on the Block Parent program is to be held on Tuesday, September 23. Explanatory leaflets giving information to both parents and children are to be given out to all elementary students during the first week of school, together with a copy of the booklet "The Cautious Twins."

5,000 copies of this booklet are being provided for the Safety Council under the sponsorship of the Belmont Credit Union and the St. Albert Savings and Credit Union. The St. Albert Safety Council wishes to acknowledge the generosity of Mr. Watson and the Belmont Credit Union and Mr. Alain and the St. Albert Savings and Credit Union is sponsoring this booklet, which sets out in pictorial form the hazards two young children may encounter and what they can do to avoid them. If unavoidable they are shown what to do --- and this is where the Block Parent comes in.

At the meeting on September 23 further information will be given, questions answered and application forms made available.

There will also be a questionnaire for parents on the training they give their children -- i.e. not talking to strangers; not accepting rides from strangers; knowing that the police are their friends etc.

The meeting will be advertised on local radio stations, Cable TV, in the Edmonton Journal and the St. Albert Gazette.

It is hoped to substantially increase the number of Block Parent signs in the windows of St. Albert homes.

For information citizens may contact Lawrence Johnson at 459-7442. Application forms are available at the RCMP office.

Help to keep St. Albert safe for our children.

Arts and Crafts classes to get underway

Fall classes offered by the St. Albert Arts and Crafts Guild will get underway, with a few exceptions, on the week of September 15. A full description of each class and information on how to register will appear in the Recreation Department's fall program outlined in the Sept. 3 Gazette.

Twenty-one classes for adults will be offered ranging from pottery to flower arranging. A new type of program for "Mom's and Tot's" will be held on Tuesday afternoons. While pre-schoolers from 2 - 5 years take part in an arts and crafts session, mothers can participate in classes in painting, creative crafts, introductory canvas work, or knitting and crocheting.

Five weekend workshops are also planned in batik, macrame, primitive weaving, adult puppetry and mukluk making.

In co-operation with the Recreation Department, children's classes in pre-school arts and crafts, art, pottery and multicrafts are also scheduled.

Further information can be obtained from Mrs. Lois Folkins at 459-7344.

Dancing School offers courses

Its dancing time again! The time of year when children are anxious to become involved in exciting activities. Dancing is one of those positions which offers both physical and mental stimulation.

This year St. Albert School of Dancing is proud to have acquired the services of Sherriene Crosby, who comes direct from London, England where she has recently completed a three year practical teaching course as assistant to Miss Ivy Barker, examiner and lecturer of Imperial Society of Teachers of Dancing.

Sherri took her dance training at Grandison College, London, where young talented students live and study daily. She majored in Classical Ballet I.S.T.D. and R.A.D., modern dance, tap, national, Greek and jazz. After this three year course, Sherri was chosen as a member of a professional dance group who performed in London cabaret. She has also played many leading roles in popular musical shows. With her overall experience in both performing and teaching, she will be a stimulating instructor.

All little girls at some time have a desire to dance, and it is true that dancing lessons do provide a certain amount of self-confidence, poise and good posture, as well as the fun and enjoyment gained from participation.

However it is so important that the child receive correct instruction from fully qualified teachers as improper training can be damaging to the students anatomy.

St. Albert School of Dancing, now in their 13th year, have proved the qualifications of their teaching staff, through their excellent results in exams, festivals and competitions.

Once again the Ladies "Jazz for Fun" classes will be offered, and this year the school is offering Ladies "Tap those Pounds Away!" Tap dancing for adults has become so popular in U.S.A., since Nanette Fabray received this art and "lost 20 pounds while taking lessons and having so much fun."

As always enrollment is expected to be heavy and as classes will be limited, you are advised to register in time for classes commencing on Monday, September 8.

Piecemeal planning fiscal foe, says Mayor

"Piecemeal planning destroys the integrity of our fiscal process."

Those were some of the blunt words that Mayor Dick Plain employed Monday night at the regular meeting of the Town of St. Albert as council put the brakes on the location of the historical North West Mounted Police Building at the (Sturgeon) Bridge Park site.

The decision will come as a blow to the Chamber of Commerce, the St. Albert Historical Society and others who had come up with $11,000 to get the project going. The historic building would have been placed in a proposed park area on the Sturgeon River next to Highway Two and it would have been used as a tourism information office and also as a base for the St. Albert Chamber of Commerce.

But it wasn't so much the piecemeal planning which rankled council. The development could still go ahead but the costs have escalated to nearly seven times the original estimate - $75,000.

Mayor Plain thought that it was a case of "having the foot in the door" and that more commitment was needed from the various organizations before the matter went before the town budget committee.

The development could go on at least five other sites including the Sturgeon Shopping Plaza. Placing it on another site would also cut down on paving, access and utilities costs, as well as landscaping, fill, and placing it above the flood level.

Mayor Plain thought that there was danger of creating another intersection on Highway Two if the development went ahead at the proposed location.

Finally after a mercurial switch of motions a motion to accept the site of Bridge Park for the office location was defeated on a tied vote.

Ideal picnic weather for Youville Home outing

Disappointment turned to elation for the citizens of the Youville Home when the picnic, planned for them by the Youville Auxiliary, which was to be held on July 29 had to be postponed because of rain. However, a new date was chosen, August 14, and this time the weatherman cooperated fully.

It was a beautiful day - warm, sunny and ideal picnic weather.

Two buses, loaded with happy Youville patients and members of the Auxiliary, left the Home at 10 a.m., bound for the Grey Nun's Chalet at Lac Ste. Anne. It is a lovely spot in full view of the lake, and the Sisters there always welcome their yearly Youville visitors most graciously.

At noon, a delicious picnic lunch was served, followed by a short relaxing rest period. Then came fun-time when numerous games were played and in which the Youville picnickers participated wholeheartedly, really enjoying every minute. Prizes were awarded for each game, and only when this stock was exhausted did activities cease.

Refreshments were served before the buses took on their passengers for the return journey. Though by then everyone was a bit tired, they declared unanimously that this picnic was their best and most fun ever.

The members of the Youville Auxiliary wish to thank most sincerely the bus drivers, namely Mr. Ed Savoie and Mr. Small, and each and everyone who made this outing such a pleasant one for the citizens of the Home.

And now, with September just around the corner, the Youville Auxiliary will be resuming their meetings, held on the second Tuesday of each month. Plans for the October 26 tea and bazaar will be discussed at this first meeting. The people of St. Albert and District have always supported us most generously in this our one and only fund-raising project of the year. We rely on their kindness to help us again. There is a need for donations in the line of knitted articles, baking, homemade candy, novelties, comic books, etc. - the usual wares that attract buyers to a bazaar.

Also, should you have Blue Ribbon and Nabob coupons lying around wondering what to do with, the Youville Auxiliary would be very pleased if you would pass these on to them. They are redeemed for prizes given out at the monthly Bingo games for the Youville citizens.

For whatever you do to help us, our deepest thanks

Safety is important at Grosvenor Park

Lifeguards attend to the needs of "victim of spinal cord injury" at Grosvenor Park Pool. Fifteen minutes later, the man on the stretcher got up - the pool supervisor's test had ended and everyone got an "A".

Swimmers at Grosvenor Park Pool are in safe hands. Unbeknownst to all but a few, an accident simulation of a spinal cord injury was carried out here Thursday afternoon. Both lifeguards and swimmers passed the test with flying colours.

At 2 p.m., the pool was quickly cleared and the lifeguards came to the assistance of the "stricken" man. The public was then met in the locker rooms and the situation explained to them. Pool supervisor Keith Walker said the "rescue" operation was a real success. His only complaint was that the noise of the children in the locker rooms made it difficult to communicate with the dispatcher.

"It is important to not just talk about lifesaving but to practice it. We've not only learned something about our lifeguards, but we also learned something about our swimmers," he said.

The spinal injuries in the pool are very serious. If you move the person just a bit you might sever the spinal cord," said Mr. Walker. He praised his guards for taking time to make sure the person was secure on the board before moving him.

He also wished to thank the fire department for participating in the exercise. Although ordinary pool checks are carried out about once an hour, this is the first time this year that an accident simulation has been carried out.

Mr. Walker said that lifeguards have been well trained to cope with situations like this. All the lifeguards at Grosvenor Park

Pool have some experience. They receive training at the beginning of the year and this continues right through the swimming season. They have taken a National Lifeguard Service training course and Royal Life Saving Society courses. They train in public relations, pool operation, waterfront guarding, pool guarding, first aid and emergency procedures, and cardiopulmonary resuscitation (mouth to mouth with chest compression). They also all have their bronze medallions.

NCA Championship postponed

By Paul Rlopel

The league championship series for the North Central Alberta Baseball League was not played as scheduled last Sunday. The balmy weather which had been Alberta's to enjoy in July has not continued into August forcing the postponement. The four top clubs in the N.C.A. League, namely the Red Lions from Westlock, the Manufacturers from Morin-ville, Bon Accord and the Flyers from Linairia will be challenging one another for the League Championship Trophy next Sunday, August 31, in Westlock. All baseball fans should note that the championship will not be played on the previously chosen date of September 7 unless rain once again forces a postponement. Game times and the final league standings are available below.

The NCA League also wishes to announce that a special tribute will be made following the conclusion of the first game next Sunday in honour of Paul DeChamplain of the Legal Pontiacs who passed away this summer as a result of a tragic road mishap. According to the Secretary of the League, this young man had always represented what the League shall continue to strive for -- a demonstration of greater skill, leadership and sportsmanlike conduct in the game of baseball.

If you aspire to a management accounting position -- to be a professional in the centre of a management team -- look into the RIA program. Courses being offered this semester include coverage of:

- Financial Accounting
- Data Processing
- Organizational Behaviour
- Law and Taxation
- Cost Accounting
- Information Systems
- Accounting for Management Planning.

Did You Know . . .

Breads and Cereals Bread . . . the staff of life! Bread has been a basic food for many hundreds of years

Whole grain cereals and bread are preferred as they are a good source of niacin, phosphorus and iron and an excellent source of thiamine in their natural state. They also contain bulk, an important part of our diet which is concerning nutritionists more and more

Many people, however, have developed a taste for white bread in which the roughage, with the vitamins and minerals, have been removed. If this is your choice, be sure to eat ENRICHED cereals and cereal products to regain the B Vitamins and minerals

Whole grain cereals that you cook yourself, like rolled oats, are very nourishing and much cheaper than processed breakfast cereals. Try to include them in your meal planning

The Daily Food Guide recommends 3 servings of whole grain or enriched cereals every day. One serving could be 1/2 cup cooked cereal like oatmeal, 1 cup dry cereal, 1 slice whole grain or enriched bread, 1/2 cup pasta, such as spaghetti, macaroni or noodles (be sure it is enriched) or 1/2 cup cooked brown or converted rice

Serve one serving at each meal to help balance your diet.
Try different types of whole grain or enriched cereals. The more Variety the Better

Foreign market likely for Legal alfalfa

The recently opened alfalfa dehydrating (deh) plant at Legal expects to be producing between 10,000 and 12,000 tons of alfalfa pellets next year.

According to the general manager, Maurice Daoust, the plant, known as Legal Alfalfa Products, already has a domestic market in Alberta and British Columbia and there is a good possibility that half of next year's production will find a market in foreign countries.

Locally, alfalfa pellets have proved popular with dairymen who require a high protein, high quality feed for their milking cows. Hogmen are using them in their finishing and brood sow rations. Cow-calf operators and beef feedlot operators also speak very highly of this convenient high quality feed.

The reason that the quality of deh alfalfa pellets is so high is that the forage is processed while still green. This means that the nutrients are preserved and the antioxidant agent which is incorporated into the pellets prevents oxidation of the vitamins. Unlike hay which is usually first cut in late July, the alfalfa used in deh pellets is cut in June. The deh industry has found that cutting alfalfa early gives a higher protein level and a high quality product. The second cut, which is of an even higher quality, begins very early in July.

"The outstanding advantages of deh alfalfa pellets," says Mr. Daoust, "is their high quality and their convenience. They have a constant protein content and they lend themselves to mechanized handling. Also, they are more easily stored than hay."

Like all other commodities the price of alfalfa pellets is rising. During the last two months the price of deh pellets containing 17 per cent protein has risen from an average of $60 to $65 to $85 and $90 a ton. Mr. Daoust predicts that by January a ton of high quality alfalfa pellets will cost $100. However, they are still a good buy when one considers that a few years ago pellets cost as much as wheat, whereas today they cost about the same as oats.

One of an increasing number of dehydrating plants in Alberta, the Legal plant is 50 per cent owned by shareholders which are made up of farmers and businessmen in the Legal area. The total investment in the plant and its facilities is $1.2 million. A loan of about $1 million dollars is guaranteed by the Agricultural Development Corporation in Camrose.

MD rapeseed plant gets go ahead

Construction is "go" for Alberta Food Products rapeseed crushing plant in the MD of Sturgeon and is to begin this fall.

Alberta Food Products is jointly owned by Alberta Wheat Pool and Japan Alberta Oil Mills Limited.

The Cambrian Engineering Group Limited has been retained as project and construction managers.

Extraction equipment has been ordered from the Dravo Corporation of Pittsburgh U.S.A. in conjunction with Simon-Rosedowns Limited of England. The major portion of the equipment supplied by Dravo Corporation will be manufactured in Canada or supplied by Canadian sources.

The extraction plant will handle about 600 metric tons of rapeseed per day and will market rapeseed oil and rapeseed meal in export and domestic markets. The plant will provide an outlet for some nine million bushels of rapeseed annually.

A spokesman for the Alberta Wheat Pool said that the extraction plant is expected to be completed in time to handle a portion of the 1976 rapeseed crop.

Marianne Mickelson has returned from a trip to the Montana State Congress held at the State University in Bozeman. Marianne was one of four 4H club members from Alberta to win this trip. After spending four days at the congress, the four members toured Yellowstone National Park, Virginia City, old Nevada City, Wyoming and Idaho. They were accompanied by a chaperone.

Art and Margaret Volrath and sons Terry and Calvin have moved into their new trailer home on the farm of Art's brother Floyd.

Also living in their new trailer home are Donald and Margaret Weiss, and seven month old son Christopher. They are located on the farm of Donald's mother Rose Weiss.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick from Salmon Arm, B.C., spent a few days visiting at the Weiss farm. Mrs. Dick is Violet Weiss' sister Blanche.

Janet Clark and sons Randy, Robert and Jeff have just returned from a holiday visit to Janet's mother Mrs. Schultz who resides at Calgary. Prior to this, Bob Clark's mother and stepfather Mr. and Mrs. G. Peters of Cranbrook, B.C. spent two weeks with the Clarks.

On July 18 Gwen Knoll left by plane to visit Holland. Gwen and her very good friend Saria Nowaselski of St. Albert were unable to share the same flight to England. So they met in London and travelled by boat to Holland to visit relatives and friends of Saria's.

Saria and Gwen made Oostzaan their headquarters in Holland. They visited Amsterdam, the Queen's Palace, Madame Toussant's wax museum, Anne Frank's house and the North Sea. They also went on bike and canal tours.

In London the girls spent one and a half days visiting Westminster Abbey and the Tower of London where they saw the crown jewels. Gwen returned home August 9 from a very enjoyable holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Vranas spent an interesting week travelling through the Cariboo Mountains and visiting the retired ghost town of Barkerville. They passed through the Okanagan Valley, Frank and Fort MacLeod, and then home. Between Calgary and Edmonton they met about 15 beautifully restored antique cars (some pulling trailers) on their way back to Eastern Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Kegler, Allan Jr. and Tracy spent a lovely week at Cross Lake and Athabasca camping and fishing. They then came back through Cardiff, spent one night at home and continued on to Saskatchewan where they spent three days at the Battlefords Provincial Park. The Keglers' then visited relatives at Biggar, Saskatchewan and Islay, Alberta before returning home.

A farewell party for Mr. and Mrs. Peter Nouwan Sr. was held on Friday, August 23 at the home of Chris and Gwen Knoll. Mr. and Mrs. Nouwan will be moving to Keremeos, B.C., shortly where they have bought a home. Their property has some fruit trees and gardening space. They have some good friends who live only a stones throw away. Although we will miss you, your Cardiff friends wish you a very happy future in your retirement.

Crop Insurance deadline near

Farmers who wish to insure fall rye or winter wheat in 1976 under the "All Risk" crop insurance program are reminded these crops must be elected no later than August 31 of this year. This reminder comes from the Alberta Hail and Crop Insurance Corporation.

For other grants, elections are made in the spring, but because of the early seeding of these two crops, farmers must make their elections prior to seeding this fall.

As well as naming these crops this month, a coverage level of either 60% or 70% of long term average yields and price options must be selected. Three prices are available for each crop: $1.50, $2.50 and $3.00 per bushel for wheat and $1.00, $1.50 and $2.00 per bushel for fall rye. Through their selection of coverage levels and price options, farmers can adjust their guarantee to suit their farming operations and protect their costs of production.

Farmers interested in insuring these grains are encouraged to contact the Corporation's District Office in their area for details including coverage levels and premium rates.

Winter wheat is insurable in the M.D.'s of Cardston, Pincher Creek, Willow Creek and Taber, and the Counties of Lethbridge, Warner, Fort Mile and Vulcan (townships 13 to 15 inclusive). Fall rye may be insured in all areas of the province.

In 1975 Alberta farmers are carrying a record amount of insurance under the "All-Risk" crop insurance program.

Berube-Tieule wedding in Legal

By Sharon Rempel

On August 16, 1975 Miss Cecile Tieule of Legal exchanged vows with Gerald Berube. Cecile is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jean-Marie Tieule and Gerald the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Berube. Reverend Father Bissonnette officiated at the ceremony in St. Emile's Church.

Baskets of carnations and red roses banked the church. Mrs. Mickey Stapleton played the wedding music with Louise Slobogean as soloist.

Given in marriage by her parents the bride looked beautiful in her crystal polyester gown complimented with a high neck bodice, long slim sleeves, and a train of ruffled lace.

Cecile wore a two strand rope of pearls and carried a bouquet of red roses and lily of the valley.

The bride's attendants were Helene, sister of the bride, maid of honour and the groom's two sisters Jocelyne and Rollande as bridesmaids. The bride's younger sister Monique was flower girl. All the attendants wore matching gowns of floxed polyester crepe.

Attending the groom were Marcel Regimbald of Peace River, best man, Emile Tieule the bride's brother and Daniel Belland of Edmonton as groomsmen. The ushers were Gaston Parent, brother-in-law of the bride and Levi Berube, brother of the groom.

MR. & MRS. GERALD BERUBE

Mrs. Tieule, mother of the bride chose a long blue polyester crepe gown with matching lace jacket. The groom's mother Mrs. Paul Berube chose a gown in pink.

A reception followed in the Legal Community Hall, with the toast given by the bride's uncle, Mr. Wilfred Lacavallier.

Out of town guests were from Edmonton, Leduc, Villeneuve and Morinville.

The happy couple will reside in Legal.

Report From Bon Accord

By Sadie Allen

The Bon Accord St. John's Ambulance Emergency received a very encouraging response to their plea for funds and have collected enough in donations to cover their insurance and the repairs to the vehicle. That is not to say that further donations will be unwelcome. All will be gratefully received. A good turnout was on hand for the open house held in the new Fire Hall on August 19, when the special equipment purchased through the Brigg's memorial fund was on display.

A preliminary soccer meeting was held on August 21. There was a good turnout of those interested. Soccer registration was held on August 25 with the first practice game slated for later in the week. A soccer pitch was made ready over the weekend with John Doughty, Don Doney and Blaine Adams erecting the goal posts. Bon Accord ladies are issuing a challenge to ladies from surrounding communities to come up with some opposition for their newly formed women's soccer team. So far there has been no response from other communities interested in a soccer league. Hopefully, there will be more enthusiasm shown now that school opening is just around the corner. Anyone wishing information re. soccer may contact John Doughty, 921-3620 or Mike Hartley, 921-3512.

The senior men's baseball finals scheduled for August 24 were cancelled due to inclement weather and are slated for August 31. Games are being played at Westlock with Morinville meeting Bon Accord at 2:30 p.m.

ARTS & CRAFTS PLANS

An interesting program in Arts and Crafts is being planned for the fall and winter seasons with ceramics, adult jazz, Christmas class, soccer, copper enamelling, basketry, flower design, typing, bookkeeping, metrication and Tiny Tots on the suggestion list. At least 10 registrations are required to assure a class. Anyone interested in taking and/or teaching crafts listed or unlisted ones, please contact Pauline Mansfield 921-3625, Doris Carleton, 921-3686 or June Serediak, 921-3589.

Art classes will resume towards the end of September. Anyone looking for an interesting hobby to while away the winter months should take a good look at the program offered by the Bon Accord Art Club. Classes will be held on Wednesday evenings in the Bon Accord School. A cordial invitation is extended to interested parties from surrounding communities to join. Contact Jean Chubb 921-2486 for information.

Keith Whitson's midget girls softball team will be in Red Deer this weekend competing in the summer games. Good luck to you all.

A warm welcome is extended to visitors from England - Geoff and Angela Coates from Sheffield, Yorkshire County, visiting with cousin Nigel Mansfield and family, and to Mr. and Mrs. Partington, Oldham, Lancashire County, visiting with daughter and son-in-law, Mrs. and Mr. D. Taylor.

Registration for cubs and scouts, brownies and guides will be held on Monday, September 8 at 6:30 p.m., in the Bon Accord Community Centre. Children must be accompanied by a parent.

Many happy returns to Mrs. Ellen Mulligan on the occasion of her 87th birthday on August 25.

KINDERGARTEN MEETING

A meeting for parents of kindergarten children will be held on Thursday, September 4 at 7:30 p.m., in the Bon Accord School. A new field trip planner will be required for this year as Mrs. Hill, last year's planner is leaving the district. However, she will be here until October 15 to offer any help she can to the new planner. Kindergarten contact is June Serediak, 921-3589.

A meeting for parents of Tiny Tots is scheduled for Monday, September 8 at 8 p.m. in the Bon Accord Community Centre. Final registration will be held. The Tiny Tot (four by Feb. 28) program will start on September 16.

Registration for dancing classes will be held on Tuesday, September 9 at 8 p.m. with lessons beginning on September 11. Highland, tap and jazz will be offered. Postdated cheques would be appreciated upon registration. Teacher will be Mrs. Marion Nicholson.

A sincere thank you is extended from the Ferbey family to their many friends for the flowers, cards and many acts of kindness received during their recent bereavement.

Fifteen members from the Bon Accord Senior Citizens Club enjoyed the supper and dance held at the Morinville Recreation Centre on August 19. The Bon Accord Club has suspended the regular meetings until less busy times. In the meantime, they are conducting a sale of miscellaneous items at the Farmers' Market Days held every Wednesday in the Bon Accord Community Centre from 4 - 7 p.m. Items for sale include homebaking, pocket novels, homemade soap, knick knacks, good used clothing and many other items. Donations of pocket novels would be very much appreciated.

MARKET DAYS POPULAR

The Farmers' Market Days have proved very popular with local residents. An amazing variety of vegetables is being offered by market gardeners, Roseann Lewis and Alice Strawson, at prices you can't afford to miss. A good supply of bulk honey is on hand. Bring your own container and have it filled. Surplus garden produce will be sold for you by members of the Ag. Society, or accepted gratefully as a donation towards recreation in Bon Accord and district.

It was a fortunate circumstance for MLA Ernie Jamison and Shirley that Norm Meunier happened by the main street corner Monday evening just after Ernie had parked his truck with a gaping hole in the gas tank. He had struck a piece of heavy metal on Highway 2 which did the damage. With the help of Norm, a young RCMP constable and fireman Gib Boddez, (who got the gas hosed off the street) arrangements were made to get the truck looked after and then Norm drove the Jamisons back to St. Albert.

Report From Parliament Hill

By Stan Schehlenberger MP

During the last session of Parliament which ended on July 30, Opposition Members of Parliament used every available day to study the Estimates of various federal government departments. One of those days was devoted to the Department of National Defence.

The problem in the Department of National Defence is not that it is overspending as are so many other government departments. The problem is that the Department of National Defence is not being given the attention and the priority it deserves from the federal government, either financially or in any other way, and our Armed Forces are suffering because of it, both in terms of morale and of strength in the world community. One of the reasons for this may be that there has been a high turn-over of National Ministers in recent years - the Department has had four ministers in four years, three of them having served since February 1972. None of them have really stayed in office long enough to truly grasp the problems and make some of the big decisions.

Spending is a major problem. The 1971 White Paper "Defence in the 70's" said the four major roles of our Armed Forces must fulfill are 1) to defend Canadian sovereignty and independence, 2) to participate with the United States in the defence of North America, 3) to join with our NATO partners in collective security, 4) to work towards the achievement of international stability by participating in peacekeeping duties.

This is the mandate the Armed Forces are attempting to carry out while confined to a budget that has not even kept pace with the increases in our cost of living. For example, the Department of National Defence budget was lower this year, in dollar terms, than it was in 1961-62. Defence spending, in 1961-62, amounted to 26% of all federal government expenditures. Today, it accounts for only 9.4%. Between 1966 and 1973 defence spending estimates increased 23.3% - among the lowest of any federal government department. By comparison, Treasury Board's spending Estimates increased 254% during the same period of time. Manpower is also a problem. The Armed Forces is top-heavy with commissioned and non-commissioned officers. Also, there are too many civilians in the Armed Forces. The 1974-75 Estimates planned military strength was down to 78,185, or 4,000 less than expected. In contrast, civilian personnel by September 1974 had increased 2,000 over the expected number as outlined in the same Estimates.

Other figures show that there is one officer for every 5.2 other ranks and one senior non-commissioned officer for every 2.93 privates and corporals. The result is that career advancement is limited. We have too many officers.

Obsolete equipment presents a problem. There are 149 tanks in Canada, but only 29 of these are operational for training purposes. There are 71 tanks in Europe, but only 32 of these are operational. However, rather than purchasing a series of new tanks or making a decision to scrap Canada's tank role altogether, the Defence Minister has made plans to refurbish the ones on hand. The result will be that Canada will continue to use obsolete tanks and therefore, to waste money.

We have a number of destroyers, but destroyers are inefficient for fishery control and Arctic use - two main Department of National Defence priorities. Why not begin to build vessels more suitable for these tasks, especially in light of the fact that it costs approximately $4,000 a day to operate just one destroyer? Rather expensive, is it not, for fishery control and/or Arctic use?

One of the largest problems facing the country now, in terms of defence, is the extent of Canada's participation in the world community, in organizations such as NATO. Two important questions to be asked based on the premise that an effective NATO is an essential part of western Europe stability and of Canadian security are: Are we doing our share in NATO (upon examination, it was found that our military budget, based on percentage of GNP, comes twelfth out of 13, being ahead of tiny Luxembourg only - we as a wealthy nation are one of the "cheapest skates" in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization) and is the money Canada is actually spending being used wisely (studies have shown that NATO has wasted something over $20 billion by failure to standardize equipment or co-ordinate research)?

Needless to say, we should not blindly support international defence policies automatically and without question, without challenging their tactics and strategies and ensuring that they are worthy of our full participation. It might be advisable for the government to outline its position vis-a-vis NATO or at least acquaint Parliament with the issues and thus encourage dialogue.

An opportunity for Albertans

An information program has been launched by an investment dealer in Alberta to give Albertans the chance to take part financially in Canada's largest investor owned utility, Calgary Power Ltd.

The program is called "Opportunity for Albertans."

A spokesman for the company has said that since it is operating in Alberta they would like to see an increase in the number of Albertans holding common shares.

Representatives of the company's investment dealers will be circulating within the province to provide Albertans with the opportunity to invest, making themselves available for consultation in 50 centres.

The common shares will be offered for sale only in Canada.

Further information may be obtained from any investment dealer or from the Manager of the offering, Merrill Lynch, Royal Securities.

STURGEON REGIONAL RECREATION

Family "Drive and Swim" lessons will begin on Monday, September 15, from 8 - 9 o'clock for 10 weeks at Eastglen Pool, 11430 - 68 Street, Edmonton. Families are encouraged to attend as a family unit. Anyone over the age of seven years may register.

Lessons in beginners, juniors, intermediate and seniors will be offered. If enough interest is shown a Bronze Medallion program can also be offered. Fee will be $10 per family. Families will be responsible for their own transportation to the pool.

Phone Sturgeon Regional Recreation - 939-4317 to register. There is a limited amount of openings, those registering as a family will receive first consideration.

The average date for the first frost in central Alberta is around September 1 and can be as late as the beginning of October.

Although the recent frost may not have lowered crop yields by any appreciable amount, it will even delay the maturing process of crops that were not frozen, thereby reducing their quality. "Garden crops," says Mr. Gareau, "are probably the ones that have been the most severely damaged."

Frost damage to Alberta crops

Nobody can actually say how much damage has been done to Alberta crops by the mid-August frost, but Alberta Agriculture's forage crops specialist Larry Gareau, believes that an overall loss in value of around 10 per cent is a reasonably fair estimate.

He says his department has received reports of spotty frost damage all the way from Calgary in the south to High Level in the north. This is a very unusual situation.
